With this established course we continue the close exchange between participants and faculty, explore case presentations, and encourage interactive discussions. Our internationally renowned faculty will lecture and engage, each presenting with innovative style and expertise and will be taking you through interesting sessions.

The cadaver lab highlights this 2-day course, enhancing didactic learning with hands-on skills, emphasizing tips and pearls of new approaches and procedures.

We look forward to sharing this special format of lecture, panel sessions and cadaver lab - along with social events - in the beautiful setting of Hong Kong.

Foreword

Dear Colleagues, dear Friends,

Any simple and complex wrist and elbow injuries bring challenges of both medical and technical nature. The development of new technologies and material in this branch continues to be substantial. Methods of treatment, ostheosyntetic material as well as concepts of follow-up treatments are changing – and all of those have a crucial effect on the final result i.e. the functionality of a patient's upper extremity.

In order to facilitate the choice and application of methods and material used in surgery, we would like to offer you a course in which a group of experienced faculties will discuss current procedures in fracture treatment. After the theoretical part, we will move onto practical exercises on natural anatomic specimens, in which you will be assisted by a group of leading instructors.

Our courses organised all over the world enjoy great popularity and appreciation of all participants and we are thrilled to organise a course in Hong Kong. We hope very much that this course will pique your interest and that you – specialists in the field of wrist & elbow – will participate in large numbers.

We look forward to a good and fruitful cooperation and to welcoming you in Hong Kong soon!

Yours faithfully,

Prim. Dr. Wolfgang Hintringer
